Facts

- The Liberty Bell was made in 1752 for the Pennsylvania State House, now called Independence Hall, in Philadelphia.
- It weighs about 2,000 pounds, as much as a small car.
- Its words say: "Proclaim LIBERTY Throughout all the Land unto all the Inhabitants thereof."
- People who worked to end slavery gave it the name "Liberty Bell" in the 1830s.
- A big crack grew in it, and it has not been rung like a normal bell since 1846.
