Facts

- Sacagawea was a Lemhi Shoshone woman. She grew up in the Rocky Mountains, in what is now Idaho.
- In 1805 she set out west with the explorers Lewis and Clark, all the way to the Pacific Ocean.
- She carried her baby son, Jean Baptiste, on the whole trip.
- She helped the explorers talk with Native peoples. Her brother, a Shoshone chief, gave them horses to cross the mountains.
- Since 2000 her picture has been on the golden dollar coin.
