Write a Concluding Sentence

A concluding sentence wraps up a paragraph. It says the main idea again in a new way. Write one for each paragraph.

Name: _____ Date: _____

Try starting with

In the end, That is why All in all, As you can see, No wonder

Octopuses are amazing animals. They have eight arms covered in suckers. They can change color to hide from enemies. Some can even squeeze through a hole the size of a coin.

Our school field day was a blast. We ran races in the morning. After lunch, we had a water balloon toss. Then the teachers raced the fifth graders in a relay.

Taking care of a puppy is hard work. You have to feed it two or three times a day. It needs walks, even in the rain. You also have to clean up its messes.

Art © Kevin Coulston